CABBAGE PLANTS.

Important to Growers of Early Cabbage.

A Crop of Cabbage Produced Ten Days to Two Weeks Earlier than you are now producing yours Would Make You Double the Profit.

By using our HARDY FROST-PROOF CABBAGE PLANTS you can mature a crop of cabbage ten days or two weeks earlier than they can be grown from plants raised in hot-beds and cold frames, for the reason that our HARDY FROST-PROOF CABBAGE PLANTS can be set in the field before danger of frost and freezes is past. (This cannot be done with cold frame plants.) They become rooted and established while the land is still cold, and as soon as spring weather opens up the established root growth assimilates the fertilizer, the plants grow off rapidly and mature a head of cabbage from ten days to two weeks earlier than your earliest cold frame plants.

On account of location and climatic conditions, the outlying sea islands on the South Carolina sea coast are particularly adapted to growing cabbage plants in winter. On account of the continuous wind blowing in from the ocean, heavy white frosts do not form in winter. During the first two months of its growth a cabbage plant will stand a mild freeze, but a white frost will kill it. This freedom from frost enables the grower on these sea islands to sow their seed in the open field in the months of October, November and December, the plants make a slow growth during the cold season, and by the time that they are large enough to transplant are practically dormant. When they get in this dormant condition they can be shipped to any section and will stand both frost and freezes without injury.

Our plants are grown by the most experienced grower on the South Carolina coast and are shipped direct from grower to purchaser. Special express rate is very low, and will be quoted on application. We can fill orders any time from December 1st to April 15th.
